

Tiny house, emergency housing laws advance

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION
HUMBOLDT – Humboldt’s Planning Commission supports ordinances that regulate new and cheaper forms of housing and is recommending they be allowed at maximum density levels.

The county’s quest to provide housing for low income and no income residents reached a milestone with the commission’s July 18 votes in favor of tiny house village and “emergency housing village” ordinances.

The tiny house ordinance sets an approval framework for “detached, self-contained units” that are no bigger than 400 square feet.

Included is allowance of “dependent unit villages” with shared bathroom and kitchen areas.

Tiny housing density was a focus of commissioners’ concerns and discussion.

The draft ordinance before commissioners set density thresholds according to what’s allowed in residential zones, with a limit of 20 units per acre in non-residential areas.

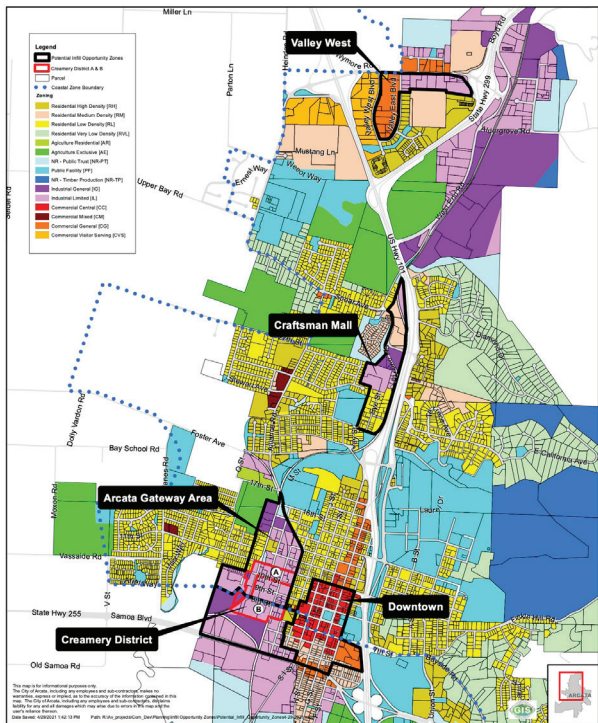

But most commissioners argued for – and even-

It’s a plan! Council passes Gateway Area Plan, General Plan 2045 with no dissenting votes – next, code crafting, project anticipation

MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA – Seven years and hundreds of public meetings later, Arcata’s General Plan 2045 and its Gateway Area Plan (GAP) element were both approved last week by two differently composed sets of city councilmembers.

The procedural tap dance was necessary due to conflicts of interest by Councilmembers Stacy Atkins-Salazar and Alex Stillman, who own property close to the Gateway Area. Hence, they had to sit out the GAP agenda item, with the key element of the GP2045 considered separately.

That left the GAP’s fate up to a bare quorum of Councilmembers Meredith Matthews, Sarah Schaefer and Kimberley White during a sometimes-tense hearing.

White had routinely elevated fears and doubts about the Gateway element, and last week was no exception. Her last-minute bid to delay adoption included an unintended process glitch that brought a mild rebuke from City Attorney Doug White.

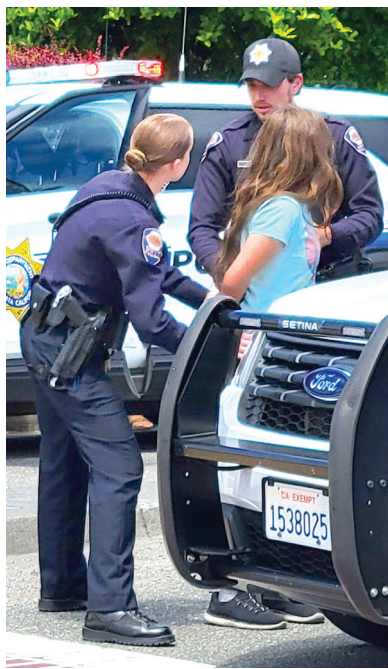

In the end, the GAP was adopted, 3–0, and the Plaza slurs, clash, BB rifle display, ends in arrests

MAD RIVER UNION
ARCATA – A Eureka man was arrested for assault and battery July 18 after getting in a brawl on Arcata Plaza and yelling racial epithets. Also arrested was the suspect’s juvenile companion, who brandished a pink BB gun and pointed it at people during the fight.

Arcata Police were called to the Arcata Plaza at 12:46 p.m. for a report of a physical altercation involving a female pointing a firearm at multiple subjects. Some in the area feared that a mass shooting was underway.

“An officer in the immediate area located a black Toyota Tacoma leaving the Plaza which was identified by witnesses as being associated with the suspect in possession of the firearm,” states a press release issued the same day by Arcata Police. “A high-risk traffic stop was initiated at the intersection of F Street and Samoa Boulevard. The occupants of the Tacoma, one adult of misdemeanor assault and battery. According to the jail's website, Boone was booked into the jail at 1:52 p.m. and released at 6:47 p.m.

The juvenile female was booked at the Humboldt County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of misdemeanor violation of brandishing an imitation firearm. The adult female was released from the scene.

road on Eighth Street just west of the crosswalk in front of Jacoby's Storehouse. Doors are open on each side of truck.

Boone, who appears to be White, is seen yelling at a Black adult male near the northwest corner of Eighth and H streets.

Boone, who is shirtless and wearing black gloves, yells profanities and racial epithets at the other man and challenges him to fight.

While this happening, a female juvenile is seen holding a pink BB gun and pointing it at bystanders. She can be heard yelling "Everybody down! Everybody down!"

A dog, who was in the back of the truck, is smart enough to get away from the yelling and fighting and squeezes itself through the Toyota's back window and into the back seat of the cab, where it sits and watches the fight.

"I'll pick you up and beat your brain out," Moore yells at the victim.

As the fight escalates, someone, presumably the female who was later released by police, drove the Toyota out of the roadway and parked it on a Plaza parking space.

At one point, after continual taunts, the victim puts down his bag, raises his fists and steps towards

Moore, who retreats a bit and shuffles backwards before the two try to exchange blows. The victim appears to land a few punches before Moore leaves while spewing epithets.

The incident was terrifying for some of the shoppers and merchants who were in the area at the time. When the juvenile brandished the BB gun, some thought it was an actual firearm.

At Jacoby's Storehouse, a Plaza regular entered through the front doors and was visibly shaken, having encountered the juvenile with the gun outside. As a precaution, the building was locked up for a short time.

Moore's name is mentioned several times on the Humboldt Thieves Facebook page, with residents in McKinleyville, Fieldbrook and Eureka claiming that he's driven through their neighborhoods and was allegedly casing their homes. A person who confronted him reported that he was very aggressive, screaming and making racial slurs. Some of the reports say Boone is accompanied by the female juvenile while driving through neighborhoods.

Housing | Tents, yurts?

tually voted to recommend – higher density levels.

Commissioner Peggy O’Neill said 20 units per acre isn’t enough to cover construction and other costs, leading to higher rental charges.

“I’m not seeing anything in here to guarantee this will be affordable housing and not just a bonus to landlords who will be able to build lower-income units and then charge whatever they want,” she continued.

The draft ordinance includes an alternative policy allowing 30 units per acre in non-residential zones and it gained support among a majority of commissioners.

Another alternative expands the types of zones where tiny house villages are principally permitted, or allowed without publicly-noticed Planning Commission review.

There was debate about the alternative’s inclusion of industrial zones, with Commissioner Iver Skavdal questioning how dense housing would mix with the noise and truck traffic of those areas.

A majority of commissioners favored the alternative but a requirement for discretionary reviews in the industrial zones was added.

There was further discussion on zoning, with some commissioners vouching for allowing tiny house villages on rural resource lands.

There’s a snag with allowing that – it would trigger a full environmental review and Commission Chair Thomas Mulder noted that a more streamlined process is necessary for the county to meet a deadline on housing grant funding it’s seeking.

Planning Director John Ford said the draft ordinance aims to open paths to easy approvals and expanding development into rural resource areas “gets increasingly complicated.”

Commissioners unanimously voted to recommend approval of the tiny house ordinance, including the alternatives.

A second draft ordinance allows emergency housing villages with “sleeping cabins” and mobile homes, RVs and movable tiny houses.

During public comment, longtime housing advocate Nezzie Wade praised the county’s efforts and described them as setting “a historical precedent.”

But she questioned whether there will be a realistic path to development.

“I don’t know if this is feasible or if it will ever happen – I hope it does,” she said, later adding, “There’s a lot of things that we haven’t talked about and I don’ know if we’re ready to do this yet, I just think there isn’t enough information on how people can actually make this happen.”

She also noted the absence of allowances for tents and yurt-like structures and asked if it’s been removed from the draft.

Indeed it has, and Ford explained it’s because building codes would have to be changed to allow tents and yurts.

Commissioners voted to recommend approval of the emergency housing ordinance to the Board of Supervisors.

The vote included asking the board to explore the possibility of changing building codes to allow the tents and yurts.

Pit bull owner who fled after attack is sought by deputies

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
McKINLEYVILLE – On Wednesday, July 10 in the afternoon, Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputies were dispatched to the Airport Business Park in McKinleyville for the report of a dog attack.

Deputies responded to a report of a tan pit bull attacking a person and their two small dogs. The owner of the pit bull left the scene prior to the deputy’s arrival.

In order to complete an investigation to ensure the safety of the public, the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office is attempting to locate the owner of the pitbull.

The owner is described as a Hispanic or Native American male, approximately 20 to 30 years old, with shoulder length dark hair.

Plans | More process to come

GP2045, 5–0.

Technically, the three-person council adopted Resolution 234-47, certifying the GP2045 and Gateway Code EIR; adopted Resolution No. 234-48, adopting the GAP; and introduced Ordinance No. 1569, amending the Land Use Code to include the Gateway Code and zoning districts throughout Arcata. The full council then adopted Resolution No. 234-49, which includes the rest of the GP2045.

But there’s more public conversation to come, likely including more of the debate and drama that has encrusted the GP2045/GAP process for the past seven years. Final adoption is scheduled for the council’s Aug. 7 meeting, with the entire package to go into effect on Sept. 6 (see Legal Notices, page 9).

And beyond that, years of follow-on actions ensure that the road to housing creation will be rich in public participation and vivid discussions.

According to a staff report, the council’s direction to implement inclusionary zoning and a community benefits program must be adopted. A citywide zoning ordinance will be needed to make zoning consistent with the new General Plan, and new zoning codes for the designated Infill Opportunity Zones (see map, page 1) will involve engagement with each neighborhood – likely starting with Valley West and Downtown areas.

The neighborhood Infill Opportunity Zones will all get their own version of form-based code. The form-based codes are intended to expedite housing development with using sets of standards developed via a public process like that in which the Gateway Code has been developed.

This supplants the unwieldy and time-consuming traditional process in which each development project was considered individually before the Planning Commission. However, any project can still be appealed to the City Council. Even the GP2045 itself can and likely will be amended.

The council took the opportunity to get in some last-minute delaying the plans’ adoption.

Diemer said the city is actively working with AFD on standards of coverage, with those due in October. She said relevant findings can be added to the General Plan later. “I think a lot is being done,” Diemer said.

White, who frequently reads prepared statements from her computer during meetings, then read from an email she received during the meeting from AFD Chief Chris Emmons, and forwarded a request by AFD Board President Loudenslager for a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the city and AFD delineating responsibilities.

City Attorney Doug White said an MOU wouldn’t be appropriate, as it would give AFD some authority over Arcata’s land use, which goes beyond the district’s charter and jurisdiction.

In cautious, diplomatic language, attorney White advised his new clients that they oughtn’t be acting on messages received during meetings, as the public hasn’t had access to the same information. But he placed the onus on those who submit the emails. “They’re supposed to come and talk in the public so that all the public can hear,” White said.

Councilmember White said Emmons’ email contained nothing new, but the city attorney said reading from emails submitted during meetings isn’t the best standard for transparency.

“It’s very concerning to have an outside agency emailing any councilmember about any matter that’s being discussed about something they have a specific interest in without it being able to be heard by the public,” he said.

Attorney White said the AFD will always be able to comment on projects’ safety, and that the city wouldn’t permit a dangerous project. Community Development Director David Loya said housing code rules all, that the Housing Accountability Act disallows limits on building height, that modern buildings are well-protected from fire and that Gateway codes were developed in coordination with the fire marshal.

Schaefer said any buildings are years away, and that fear of mass fire casualties is “outlandish and unrealistic.”

The pit bull owner was last seen leaving the area driving a small white car with tinted windows and black rims.

The victim provided a possible partial license plate number, 9BHH97.

This case is still under investigation.

The owner of the pit bull is asked to contact the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office Animal Control at (707) 840-9279.

When the matter finally came to a vote, Schaefer made an elaborate motion to approve the GAP that included all the documents and changes. White, who was the only other non-mayoral councilmember available for the second, after a pause, bent to tradition and did so. A quick vote was 3–0 for approval.

On to the GP2045 with the full council for a few councilmember nips and tucks and more advice from the public. In short order, Stillman moved to adopt, Atkins-Salazar seconded and the general Plan was approved 5–0.

Loya later heaped praise on his Community Development Dept. staff and all who had been part of the process, including critics. He said they share his desire for the best possible outcomes and that they will come to recognize his good intentions over time.

“I do recognize that’s part of the job,” Loya said of the withering criticism, though at times it did induce some level of “trauma bonding” among staff.

Matthews was ready to look ahead, saying, “I first began working on the Gateway Area Plan back in 2018 as a member of the Economic Development Committee. From the outset, the vision of a walkable, vibrant community where people could live, work and shop was incredibly exciting. Over the past six years, I have witnessed the plan’s many iterations, engaged in countless conversations with constituents, and participated in numerous meetings and study sessions. I want to extend my heartfelt thanks to the City Staff for their tireless efforts. I am proud to have contributed to both the Gateway Area Plan and the General Plan, and I am filled with optimism for the future of Arcata.”

Planning Commission Chair Scott Davies was also happy with the outcome. “The passage of GP2045 is a huge win for maintaining a livable community, with an emphasis on the values that matter most to Arcata,” he said, “Namely, continuing our town’s spirit of innovation while doubling down on making Arcata more walkable and bikeable. Our housing crisis affects everything from health care to homelessness, and the passage of the Gateway plan is an important step in addressing this issue.”

uled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 559-228-8393 or visit this internet website www.wtcap.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-14134-104. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. Humboldt Crabs honor Jerry Nutter & family

HUMBOLDT CRABS

ARCATA – Humboldt Crabs Baseball honored former Crabs president Jerry Nutter and the Nutter Family July 15 for over two decades of contributions and support to the region's most beloved sports team. This special event celebrated the legacy of the area's community-owned, non-profit, summer collegiate baseball team.

Jerry Nutter

In 1995, Jerry along with his son Matt, set up an all-volunteer, non-profit board of directors. Through their work, the Crabs have become the oldest continually-operated summer collegiate baseball team in the U.S.

Jerry served as president of the board for seven years handling everything from team scheduling to local advertising. He was an integral part of the board as well as the team's day-to-day operations until his passing in 2012.

Crabs' season comes down to the wire

Richard LaPreziosa
MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA – Yes, the Crabs are the reigning champions of Humboldt baseball fans, and yes, that tile is never in danger of being lost.

However, in regard to the new game in town, that being the Pacific Empire League in which the Crabs are now a part of, they're close to competing for the title, but as of this moment they're on the outside looking in.

As of Sunday night as I write this story, they sit in third place, and trail the second place Lincoln Potters by one game. The Crabs would have to catch the Potters and grab second place from them in order to play for the championship. If they can pull that off they would get the honor of being the underdogs to the first-place Healdsburg Prune Packers.

Healdsburg, let's face it, are the class of the league. No team is going to catch them for first place, and they never lose, except when the Crabs beat them.

They came in to face the Crabs for a big showdown last Tuesday through Thursday. The first night they were able to best Crabs ace pitcher Caleb Ruiz by a score of 11-2. They won again Wednesday night 4-1, holding Humboldt to just four hits in the game.

The sweep was avoided however, on Thursday night as Crabs pitcher Andrew Overland held the Prune Packers without a run for five innings. The Crabs drove in runs and hit by committee, jumping out to a three-run lead in the first inning and cruising to a 6-0 win – their first victory over the Prune Packers this year.

With eyes looking ahead at the teams they're chasing, they also had to look at who was stalking them, namely the Medford Rogues, who are also vying for a spot in the championship series, and were next to visit the Arcata Ball Park for three games starting Friday night.

The first game would be close, as Billy Ham, Ethan Rivera, and Keenan Morris batted in two runs each and the Crabs were able to win 7-6.

Saturday night would belong to Troy Harding. He would be the designated hitter for the game, and hit he did. He came to the plate five times and came away with three hits on the night whole driving in four runs. The Crabs would get their third win in a row at 7-5.

Sunday's game saw Nolan Long take the mound for the Crabs. He pitched six stellar innings, allowing only four hits and zero runs. Second baseman Jett Ruby led the Crabs offense batting in four runs and hitting a home run, as the Crabs got the 8-4 win, and convincing series-sweep against a division rival.

The Crabs have eight games left in the 2024 season. You might want to catch them before they hibernate for the winter again. But these remaining games are important as they try to make it to the championship series.

GREEN DIAMOND

SETTING THE STANDARD IN WORKING FORESTS

By Jessica Friedlander

CAVERNS AND COWS For the months of July and August, the Fire Arts Center Gallery, 520 S. G Street in Arcata, is exhibiting the works of members Jessica Friedlander and Vanessa Veck. The artists are hosting a reception on Friday, Aug. 9 from 5 to 7 p.m. during Arts! Arcata. Friedlander describes herself as an “autistic creative.” Her themes spring from her early love of classical mythology, social justice and her delight with the comically absurd. Her current work explores mother goddesses. Many of her figures are representative of cows and other animal figures. Veck’s works are a study on the nature of changing states: capturing delicacy, movement and disintegration. Her exploration of textures and caverns serves as an invitation to return to our senses. “I take great joy in observing the natural world, experimenting with different creative mediums, and quieting the mind.”

Nutters | Jerry played banjo

For Jerry, all details mattered from making sure the baseballs arrived at the park to ensuring that local products like beer and snacks were stocked in the snack bar. And on many summer nights you could catch him playing his banjo with the world famous Crab Grass Band.

His love for baseball was passed down a generation to his son, former Crabs pitcher Matt Nutter (1988–1991), who served as vice president and manager of the team (2006-2013) leading them to six championship seasons.

Matt Nutter shared, “It was an honor to be part of this tradition for 23 years, and being able to include my entire family in this experience was magical!”

Crab baseball was a family affair for the Nutters. Matt’s wife Shandra served as “team mom” and their three daughters worked at games as they grew up. Jerry’s wife Karen worked behind the scenes, sewing jerseys and contributing ideas to help improve the organization. Karen says, “Jerry always said ‘We can never be too good not to improve’.” She adds, “He was passionate about creating an unforgettable experience for all families and the entire Humboldt community.”

Jerry’s daughter, filmmaker, Lynette Nutter, has produced and created videos celebrating the Crabs’ community experience. She says, “Every time I see someone wearing Crabs gear, I think of the wonderful legacy that’s embedded in our community. We are forever proud to join arms with Lou, Ned and my dad as well as the many local team volunteers to continue this tradition for many years to come.”

“One of our missions is to preserve and build the tradition of Humboldt Crabs Baseball,” says Crabs Vice President David Sharp. “You can’t tell the story of Crabs baseball without mentioning the contribu-

OBITUARY

Douglas John Jager, 1939–2024

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Douglas John Jager, PhD, Emeritus Professor of Forestry and Watershed Management, Humboldt State University. Doug died on June 7, 2024, at his north Trinidad home with his loving family by his side.

Born in Oakland, California, on New Year’s Eve 1939, Doug boasted that he never had to go to school or to work on his birthday and that people across the nation celebrated his special day.

The middle child of Cornelius and Anne Jager, Doug grew up in east Oakland living next door to his Dutch immigrant Vermeer grandparents at a time when it was safe to ride his bicycle around the area. One of his favorite childhood adventures was to ride horses with his friend all over the Oakland Hills. An industrious lad, Doug had a paper route, helped an electrician, worked for a medical supply company, pumped gas in a service station, and set tile with his dad.

After graduating from Fremont High School in Oakland, Doug attended junior college and then transferred to Humboldt State College where he majored in forestry. On campus, in the dining room of the Nelson Hall dorm, he met Nancy Foster, an elementary education major from Ukiah, California. They were married on August 13, 1961, at the Ukiah Methodist Church and had sixty-two wonderful years together.

Doug loved teaching and the interactions with his students. He began as a teaching assistant in forest engineering during his junior year at Humboldt State. After earning a Bachelor of Science in Forestry, he continued to teach in both forestry and watershed management while earning his Master of Science in Forestry. He then went on to teach forestry at the University of Nevada while completing his PhD in Wildland Hydrology. Doug returned to Humboldt State in 1973 as a professor of Forestry and Watershed Management and retired as Emeritus faculty in 2000. He was known as a hard teacher, earning the nickname of “clear cut.” He was not sure if it was because of his short haircut or his forestry philosophy.

Doug and Nancy, a retired elementary school teacher, have two wonderful children. Christopher, a retired commercial fisherman and fishing boat captain, was born in 1967 in Arcata. Doug passed down his love of fishing and firewood cutting to Chris. Sally was born in 1969 in Reno, Nevada, and is a retired elementary school teacher. Sally inherited Doug’s passion for horses at an early age. Chris and Sally both took excellent care of their dad during his senior years and final days.

Throughout the years Doug had many hobbies. He enjoyed riding his bicycle and motorcycle, driving his sports car and tractor, sailing his catamaran at Big Lagoon with his family, canoeing the local rivers and lagoons, and boating at Lake Tahoe and Big Lagoon. Doug also loved surf, bass, trout, and ocean fishing, horseback riding at the local beaches, Trinidad State Park, and Redwood National Park, growing and selling Redwood tree saplings to the locals and tourists of Humboldt County, and sitting around the backyard pool reading, visiting, napping, and enjoying the beautiful outdoor surroundings of his home of over fifty years. During their later years, Doug and Nancy traveled the western states in their motorhome and enjoyed cruises to Mexico, Alaska, and Hawaii with family.

In 1985 Doug started 4-H TRAIL, a Humboldt County 4-H program, to provide therapeutic horseback rides to individuals with special needs. With the help of countless volunteers, the program took place in the backyard of his north Trinidad property, widely known as Camelot Stables. Doug enjoyed sharing his love for horses with others. Doug was a fearless horseman and had a lot of great trail rides on his favorite bold horse named Bert. Participants and volunteers of 4-H TRAIL will remember Doug’s entertaining stories about the “Molagoota’s” unique nesting habits in the woodshed and about their sneaky shenanigans in the surrounding Redwood trees in the Trinidad area. The 4-H TRAIL program is still ongoing under the direction of Doug’s daughter Sally. Doug had received the Horseman of the Year award from the Northern California Horseman’s Association for his dedication to 4-H TRAIL and the horse community. In 1980 Doug opened a retail horse tack and equipment store called Camelot Tack. He was well known for catering his inventory to the English equestrian and providing excellent customer service. Somehow, in a small storefront at the stable, Doug managed to stock everything a horse person may ever need. Doug was a forty-year Humboldt County 4-H Project Leader. In 2008 he received the League of Women Voter’s award for contributions to the community.

Doug was a registered professional forester and had worked on Redwood tree and watershed research and projects in Southern Humboldt and Northern Mendocino counties including the Mattole and Bull Creek areas. A conservationist, he belonged to numerous groups including The Society of American Foresters, the Nature Conservancy, the Sierra Club and the Audubon Society. He was a founding member of CHERT, a Humboldt County team of scientists reviewing and making recommendations on gravel extraction on the Mad, Van Duzen, Smith, and Eel rivers. Doug previously served on the local Trinidad Volunteer Fire Department and was a past president of Rural Trinidad.

Doug was preceded in death by his parents Cornelius and Anne Jager, stepfather Victor Fogh, older brother Clifford Jager, daughter-in-law Colleen Jager, in-laws Alfred and Vivian Foster, brother-in-law Martin Davis, and sister-in-law Linda Foster.

Doug is greatly missed by Nancy, his devoted and loving wife of sixty-two years, son Christopher Jager (Greta Daniels), daughter Sally Friedley (Clifford), grandsons Travis Pederson (Candace), Aaron Friedley (Josephine Fodge), and Chris Friedley (Jasmine Collins), his younger brother William Jager (Sharon), sister-in-law Odette Jager (Clifford), Nancy’s siblings Susan Davis, Tom Foster, and Bonnie Snearly (Larry) as well as many adoring nieces, nephews, and cousins.

The family would like to express sincere thanks to the local medical community for many years of excellent care. Special appreciation goes out to Sophia and her staff at Providence St. Joseph Home Health, as well as Dr. Larry Senffner, Dr. Steven Aussenberg, Dr. John Fjerstad, and Dr. Thomas Taylor and their staffs.

No services are planned. A private family gathering will be held later. In lieu of flowers, donations to honor Doug may be made to 4-H TRAIL, 349 Stagecoach Road, Trinidad, CA 95570, or to a charity of your choice. Feel free to skip a rock across a stream or lake, listen to Andre Rieu orchestra music, play a game of solitaire, chop some wood and build a fire in the wood stove, eat a bowl of ice cream, or take a horseback ride in Doug’s memory.

Tai Chi on the lawn, bingo, pinochle, pancakes and even tech support

We love June and July at the center; we have our summertime décor out on the tables courtesy of our talented Board president, Kathy Anderson, and our Tai Chi classes are frequently being conducted on the south lawn adjacent to our facility. Join in on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 11 a.m.; it’s a lot of fun, and Nancy Haley, a long-time practitioner, faithfully leads the group.

Unfortunately, we had to cancel our Christmas in July plans, as Director Binder fractured his ankle while hiking in our new Community Forest and will not be able to set up, take down, and do the usual busy work he normally does for such events.

We’re looking forward to a blow-out Christmas in December, as Janet Miller scored a motherlode of Christmas décor recently at a yard sale and it’s strategically packed in our mini-barn with our medical equipment overflow and other assistive items.

Center volunteer Greg Winkley completely reorganized our Durable Medical Equipment storage in the center itself, with gear stowed on bicycle hooks on the wall.

This freed up a lot of needed space. Thank you, Greg!

Otherwise... things are on point here! Our summer computer tech interns, Rose and Rowan, have returned on Thursday and Friday mornings, happily helping whoever comes in through their computer and phone issues.

Bingo and pinochle are still going strong, even though some of our usuals are going on short vacations to visit family and friends. SAIL Fitness is going great, with between 20 and 30 people on average twice weekly. Thank you to Burl Berlogar and Mary Zinselmeir for your leadership!

We also hosted a Neighborhood Watch presentation by Sheriff’s Office Coordinator Ginger Campbell on Friday, July 19. Protecting our neighborhoods is important and benefits the whole community!

We don’t have anything special planned for August, but all it takes is a phone call or a drop-in, and that can change – so please follow our social media atfb.com/mcksenior to be kept up to date! Meanwhile, we’ll just keep doing what we do best – sharing and caring!

Alex Stillman announces run for re-election to Arcata City Council

ALEX STILLMAN CAMPAIGN

Arcata City Councilwoman Alex Stillman recently announced that she is running for re-election to the Arcata City Council in the election to be held November 5, 2024.

In 1972, Alex Stillman was the first woman elected to the Arcata City Council. As a member of that council for eight years, and mayor for four, she helped create the Arcata Marsh and Wildlife Sanctuary, the county’s first bus system and the Arcata Community Forest. They passed a General Plan that protected Arcata’s open space and agricultural lands, and established the Aldergrove Industrial Park to incubate small businesses. These projects have helped define and serve Arcata is to this day.

“I love Arcata! I have since I moved here in 1970 to attend college as an older student, and then raised my children here. I just fell in love with Arcata’s small-town atmosphere and how people were willing to jump in to work on projects to improve things. It is a wonderful quality that makes Arcata a great place to live,” said Stillman. “I also adore all the beautiful historic buildings and have worked hard to protect and save them.”

Stillman was re-elected to the city council in 2006 and 2010, and served for eight years. Those councils accomplished several large projects which made the Arcata Marsh, agricultural lands and wetlands more resilient relative to sea level rise, built a public restroom near the Plaza, and established Carlson Park to provide new housing and recreation opportunities for the Valley West area of Arcata.

During that time, Alex represented Arcata on the Humboldt Transit Authority and championed increasing public transit routes and bike lanes, and served on the Redwood Region Economic Development Commission and the Headwaters Fund Board to further economic development.

Stillman was re-elected to the city council for a two-year term in 2022, and serves as Vice-Mayor.

“I am running for re-election because I want to continue working to create more housing, especially affordable housing. I want to continue the work we are doing to make Arcata more pedestrian and bike friendly, with more trails and increased public safety. With a new city manager coming, a General Plan update in the final stages and a tight state budget cycle, I can help provide continuity and smooth transitions,” said Stillman.

Stillman currently represents Arcata on the Humboldt Transit Authority and advocates passionately for expanding public transit and increasing ridership. She participates in the Countywide Housing Consortium and works closely with the Arcata House Partnership which serves the houseless community.

Alex serves as the sole municipal representative on the Governing Board of the North Coast Unified Air Quality Management District, and she is Chair of the Humboldt County Aviation Committee which works to attract new airlines to Humboldt County.

“Dating back to when we served together on the city council and created the Arcata Marsh Project, the Sustainable Community Forest, and the Arcata & Mad River Transit, I have always admired Alex’s deep engagement in our community.

Her willingness to run for another city council term offers us her ability to be a bridge between our rich history, and the challenges Arcata faces today and in the future. Arcata is in good hands with Alex on the city council,” said Wesley Chesbro, former Arcata City Councilmember and State Senator.

Local architect Joyce Plath says, “Alex contributes wisdom, integrity and the energy to get things done. I wholeheartedly support her re-election to the Arcata City Council.”

“The Arcata we enjoy today – our marsh, community redwood park, trails, preserved agricultural lands and an appropriately accessible and scaled freeway – is a result of courageous and visionary planning implemented decades ago.

Alex was a key architect in those initiatives, the very things we cherish today. I can’t think of a better person to help Arcata craft the next chapter in our town’s growth. Alex will ensure we keep a firm and informed hand on our past as we develop our next courageous visions for Arcata,” said Arcata resident Laura Middlemiss.

Sunny Brae resident Robin Hashem says, “Alex Stillman has the most energy, focus and desire to help people of anyone I’ve known. I believe her to have a sincere interest in the future of Arcata as a place for action-oriented forward thinkers that appreciate what our North Coast has to offer everyone, as well as a good place for our families to grow. She will always challenge people to examine the issues at hand with a clear eye and will provide a much needed balanced perspective on Arcata’s past and the future to come, a perspective hard won with her many years of service to Arcata.”

Along with her city council duties, Alex plays an active role in many other areas of our community, including serving as president of the Historic Sites Society of Arcata, chair of Godwit Days Migratory Bird Festival, chair of the Fire Arts Center and a volunteer at the Arcata Marsh.

“When I served on the council in the 1970’s, I would often think about my children and future grandchildren when I made decisions. Now, those grandchildren are grown, and some things, especially our hurting climate, are urgent,” said Stillman. “I want to continue to do all I can to help our community grow in a way that provides housing for all income levels, preserves our open space and agricultural lands, has lots of opportunities for active recreation, and maintains our unique and wonderful character.”

OPINION

❖ Sign your letter to the Mad River Union with a real name and a city of origin, plus a phone number (which won't be published) for identity verification and send it to opinion@madriverunion.com. Also, make paragraphs, spell check, don't double space and don't capitalize random words. Basically, don't use Martian punctuation and everything will be fine.

So shall ye reap

As some of you know I have an education in the Humanities. Not limited to Liberal Arts I was educated in political science, history and human society and culture. Not having been raised in a religious family I read the Christian Bible, as literature, as a freshman in college. It was a slog, but I did find the origins of many of the adages my grandmother used to keep us in order. One of her oft quoted was “As you sow, so shall ye reap.”

As it turns out Galatians 6:7 is much more ominous: “Be not deceived, God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.” We got to see that on live television last Saturday. Someone who is backed by religious zealots throughout this country tried to mock God.

For an entire week Joe Biden had been the lead story and Orange Hair was not allowed to speak out about anything. For a man who craves attention, that is not good. When someone shot at him, he once again became the center of attention, which is how he likes it.

At first my liberal friends were upset that the shooter missed. A fleeting thought that many, many had. The second thought of many was that this was some publicity stunt gone horribly wrong. I pointed out that if it was just for publicity, they should have chosen someone who could shoot better. No this was just someone exercising his constitutional right to his opinion with an AK-15. A gun that the Republicans and Alt-Right say everyone is allowed to own.

Then all the rhetoric started. Member of Congress decried the incident as “Had never happened in this country”.

Hunh? From 1963 to 1968 this nation lost a president, civil rights leader and candidate for the presidency by assassin's bullets. All liberals and Democrats. Are these people really that stupid?

Then the RNC convention started. Who bandaged Trump's ear? A three-year-old? What garbage. The entire four days went on as planned, with most of the speeches toned down to reflect a more responsive, kinder, gentler bunch of despot wannabees. But not all of them.

The ratings for this spectacle were dismal. I think the only people watching were the talking heads of the news outlets.

As a side note the Democrats are still arguing among themselves about the ticket. This should stop immediately.

If not, we will end up with the above-described despot wannabees and this country will cease to exist.

The moral of this story is do not mock God or Karma is a bh.

Thank you for listening

A hyperlocal radio station dedicated to the community

This week's edition of All Things Art is going to take a look under the umbrella of Playhouse Arts at a community-based internet radio station called Humboldt Hot Air (HHA). I talked with Neroli Devaney, the station manager of HHA, to get a glimpse of what this radio station is all about.

HHA began its journey as an audio studio in a storage closet in the Arcata Playhouse. Its original content was mostly talk programming that would be sent out to other places such as KZZH to air. It wasn't until Devaney got involved that HHA would begin to evolve into what it is today.

“I got involved in early 2021 and I decided that I think we should turn it into a radio station,” Devaney said. “We were in a little storage closet in the Arcata Playhouse at first and then we gained a few programmers and here we are today.”

HHA has a wide variety of programming from music to talk programming. One of the most unique aspects of HHA is the diversity in its programming with radio shows being vastly different despite playing back to back.

“We aim to be a community hub of people where we really celebrate diverse voices in the community,” Devaney said. “A meeting point for different people to come together and sort of be a mouthpiece for them.”

Interacting with and supporting this community is an extremely important aspect of HHA. The various volunteer DJs are all community members and HHA promotes local businesses on their programming to further show their support.

“Everything about Humboldt Hot Air is attempting to be hyperlocal, we encourage DJs to promote local events and talk about things they're going to and remind listeners that the person on the mic is your neighbor,” Devaney said. “We also have local underwriters, I'm so grateful for all the local businesses that support Humboldt Hot Air.”

HHA is not only diverse in the type of programming they offer but in their DJs as well. They have volunteers from a wide age range and a wide level of experience. This dynamic helps create an environment where those who lack the experience can learn and grow.

“We have had high schoolers come in and do their first-ever radio show and we also have had folks who've been doing radio for like 50 years,” Devaney said. “I think that's really fun and a really good opportunity for mentorship.”

Like everything in this world HHA isn't without its challenges, and for them the main challenge comes down to funding. There are multiple ways to support HHA whether it's through the big donate button on their website or just tuning into their live broadcasts. Support can even be shown by calling in or texting the DJs during their shows.

The future remains bright however with HHA having an exciting upcoming expansion in the works. This will be the addition of an FM radio station that will be a hyperlocal community station that can mainly be heard in Arcata.

“We're really excited about becoming an FM broadcasting radio station, we got approval from the FCC in April, we're going to be KHHH and we're going to be broadcasting at 94.7 FM,” Devaney said.

Despite the expansion into FM radio looming on the horizon it's important to remember that HHA isn't becoming a community radio station, it already is a community radio station. You can tune in at humboldthotair.org, on their IOS app or if you're on Android you can listen

Bandit, a soft and kind funster; Raja, the lovable, left-behind gentleman

We had a lot of fun last week with the folks from Humboldt Dash and Splash! They set up their dock and swimming pool in the field in front of the shelter and the good times followed!

Many dog owners visited throughout the week. There were beginners who coaxed their pups to just put a toe in the water and experienced participants whose dogs flew off the dock after frisbees and tennis balls. Each morning before the paying customers arrived, the shelter dogs had the chance to come out and play. Some just enjoyed the chance to explore a new enclosure, especially one that had so many interesting dog smells! Others braved the ramp and gingerly dipped toes in the pool.

And then there were the swimmers! We always try to guess which dogs will swim, usually based on their love of the wading pool, but the big pool is a very different experience. Much to our enjoyment, some of the dogs that wanted no part of the pool last year were quite interested this year. Mambo and Cream Puff both made it up the ramp and checked out the water!

One of our swimming stars this week was Bandit. At first, he wasn't quite sure about the ramp and the pool, but suddenly leapt from the ground to the rim of the pool, a good four feet off the ground, and in an amazing feat of acrobatics, perched there with all four feet on the edge before flinging himself into the water!

After that he couldn't get enough of the fun, though thankfully he chose the ramp for all future water entries. Bandit loved jumping in, fetching the toys and bringing them back. He had several morning swim times and would have stayed in the pool all day if that had been an option.

Outside of swimming, Bandit enjoys playing with big soft toys and going for walks. He has some walking buddies among the other dogs.

He is listed as a German Shepherd mix but everyone who sees him comments on his St. Bernard-like features. This two-year-old neutered male is only about 57 pounds though so the St. Bernard genes must be just a part of his DNA. Bandit has a lovely soft coat and loves to be pet. He's ready for whatever adventures come his way!

The shelter is still running reduced adoption fees this week to reduce the population of dogs and cats a bit. Come meet Bandit and see if he is the companion you've been waiting for!

Another great dog at the shelter is Raja. I was at the shelter when Raja arrived. A ranger from Prairie Creek brought him in after finding him wandering around the visitor center there. He thought Raja had been abandoned, but I thought maybe he had just become separated from his people. Here was a friendly dog who was neutered and appeared cared for.

When I scanned him for a microchip, a number popped right up. Shelter staff found the information that went with the microchip and I tried calling the numbers. The cell phone belonged to someone new and the other number was a landline in Oregon.

I held out hope for a few days until we heard from the person in Oregon who said she had given Raja away. And then said she didn't remember what the new owner's name was...

I'm sorry to say we've heard this before. Who would give their old dog away and not even write down the new owner's name?? Makes me very sad to hear things like this. But now Raja is safe at the shelter and would like to find a comfy home with people who will not give him away again. This sweet older boy, estimated at about 10, is an easy keeper. He keeps his kennel very clean and walks nicely on the leash.

Raja seems fine around other dogs and has even wanted to play with his puppy neighbors! He would really love a soft bed, a sunny place to lounge and an owner who will love him for the gentle fellow that he is. At 10, he still has some good years ahead of him and would make a nice companion for trail walking or day-tripping.

The adoption fee for our senior dogs is always only $35, an amazing deal for a dog that is altered, microchipped and current on vaccinations. Come meet Raja today!

For more information or to make appointments for these dogs or their cat and dog friends, please call (707) 840-9132 Monday through Friday. Reduced fees apply through Friday, July 26.

The White Card explores shifting power dynamics

REDWOOD CURTAIN THEATRE COMPANY
EUREKA – Redwood Curtain Theatre’s The White Card, by Claudia Rankine hits the stage at The 5th & D Street Theater on Friday, July 26 and runs until Aug. 11.

The White Card poses the essential question: Can American society progress if whiteness remains invisible?

Composed of two scenes, the play opens with a dinner party thrown by Virginia and Charles, an influential Manhattan couple, for the up-and-coming artist Charlotte. Their conversation about art and representations of race spirals toward the devastation of Virginia and Charles’s intentions.

One year later, the second scene brings Charlotte and Charles into the artist’s studio, and their confrontation raises both the stakes and the questions of what – and who – is actually on display. The White Card is a moving and revelatory distillation of racial divisions as experienced in the white spaces of the living room, the art gallery, the theater, and the imagination itself.

According to Claudia Rankine, “The White Card stages a conversation that is both informed and derailed by the black/white American drama. The scenes in this one-act play, for all the characters’ disagreements, stale-mates, and seeming impasses, explore what happens if one is willing to stay in the room when it is painful to bear the pressure to listen and the obligation to respond.”

Director Dionna Ndlovu leads a cast of RCT veterans, including Gary Sommers as Charles, Michael Murdock as Eric and William English III as Alex as well as RCT newcomers Steph Thomas as Charlotte and Heather Petersteiner as Virginia.

Art inspired by the Arcata Marsh

FRIENDS OF THE ARCATA MARSH
ARCATA MARSH – During July and August, a multi-artist show curated by Patricia Sennott, “Floral Interpretations at Arcata Marsh,” will be on display at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center. Shows featuring local art and photography are sponsored by Friends of the Arcata Marsh. The Interpretive Center, located at 569 South G St. in Arcata, is open to the public Monday from 1 to 5 p.m. and Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call (707) 826-2359.

Constantly evolving and seasonally rebounding, the plants, shrubs, vines, and trees found here provide year-round visual stimulation and solace to visitors from around the world and down the street. Included in the show are works from eight local artists who are inspired by this special area on the north shore of Humboldt Bay: Leslie Scopes Anderson, Mike Anderson, Andrew Daniel, Joyce Jonte’, Paul Rickard, Sierra Rose, Molly Ryan and Patricia Sennott. Media employed include watercolor, acrylic, gouache, oil, photography, and cyanotype photography (a camera-less technique using iron salts and the sun).

The following are statements from participating artists:

Leslie Scopes Anderson & Mike Anderson

We have been photographing birds for more than a dozen years, winning awards from National Geographic, Audubon, Nature Conservancy, Nature’s Best Photographs, Cornell Lab of Ornithology, and California’s Wildlife Photo of the Year. Leslie’s plant photos illustrate the field guide, Common Plants of the Arcata Marsh, published by Friends of the Arcata Marsh, while her shots of all types of creatures grace most of the interpretive signage that she designed along Arcata Marsh trails.

Joyce Jonte’

I’ve been drawing and painting all my life. Florals and botanicals are among my favorite subjects. I also have spent my life picking berries along the trails and hillsides of Northern California. Participating in this show inspired me to paint from my photos of berries that can be found at the Arcata Marsh.

Paul Rickard

After retiring from teaching full time, I now paint outdoors (en plein aire) almost every day, capturing local landscapes in the fog, sun, or Humboldt County mist. I find inspiration from dark pines and tall redwoods and resiliency in gray skies and ever-changing tides. I’m driven to express the wonder of both the mundane and the magnificent through watercolors.

Molly Ryan

I grew up surrounded by art, painting watercolors with my mom, Joyce Jonte’. In my 20s I discovered that I love working with acrylics. I strive to bring flowers to life in my work.

Patricia Sennott

The Arcata Marsh has been a source of fascination for me since early 1980, not long after I arrived in Arcata. (Back then we called it “The Bird Sanctuary.”) Alongside birds, amazing otters, and constantly changing bodies of water, plants offer beauty and fascination. Both native plants and uninvited but now naturalized botanicals provide endless subject matter for visual artists. For this show, I worked in watercolor and cyanotype, an early form of photography that does not require a camera.

GIRL SCOUTS
HUMBOLDT/ UK – After raising money for more than three years, Troop 70181 made its trip to the United Kingdom this past June and July. During the 24-day trip, the Girl Scouts visited London, Edinburgh, North Wales, and the area around Salisbury and Stonehenge.

With the community support from Humboldt, the troop sold 19,562 boxes of cookies over the past four years which contributed over $20,000 to their budget.

Even with energy put into fundraising efforts, the Troop participated in many service projects to benefit the local community including doing flag ceremonies for multiple Memorial Day events, supporting the annual Lions Club Winter Express with set-up and clean-up assistance, doing critical maintenance for the Dow's Prairie Grange, helping Arcata Mainstreet with Christmas decorations, acting as bike valet to the 2023 Oyster Festival, rehabilitating picnic tables and doing fire abatement work for the forestry service, running many events for younger Girl Scouts, as well as many other activities.

All 10 members of this troop will be 12th graders this fall. Leader Derek Kingham (lower right, front row) has now taken four different groups of Troop 70181 to the United Kingdom and helped escort a fifth troop, Troop 10627, who traveled together with Troop 70181.

They wish to thank the community for recognizing the value of supporting Girl Scouts through the purchase of cookies which fund nearly all of a Troop's activities.

A new Daisy Troop starts in McKinleyville this fall and Girl Scouts is looking for adult volunteers to start one in Arcata as well. If you are interested, please call (707) 296-2991 to speak to local council Membership Director Steph Matteauer.

MAD RIVER UNION

WESTHAVEN – The Westhaven Ladies Club have outdone themselves. Despite selling pies every Tuesday for the last few months, they'll have a record number of 1,287 blackberry pies for sale at the 64th annual Westhaven Blackberry Festival on Sunday, July 28 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Besides whole pies, they will be selling pie by the slice, pie a la mode, 600 jars of homemade blackberry jam and jelly, blackberry ice cream sundaes and, as a special offering, huckleberry sauce on ice cream.

"We got just a few huckleberries,"

Erica Ervin said, "so there won't be anything else huckleberry but we do have enough to make some sauce." Ervin is one of the talented pie makers in the Ladies Club.

It all benefits the Westhaven Volunteer Fire Department, a group of hardworking firefighters who cover more than 800 properties and 450 homes. And don't forget their call outs to help with freeway accidents and mutual aid to other fire departments.

Speaking of firefighters, they will be cooking up hot dogs and hamburgers for sale that day. Ian Hall, one of the firefighters will be manning the grill. "There will probably be chili dogs as well," he said.

Live music starts at 10 a.m. with (in order) Elfgame, Down the Street Pete, Turtle Goodwater, Dessert First and Secret Club.

Crafts booths, activities for kids, beverages on sale, and free admission are all the usual pluses of a beloved festival.

Parking is limited (carpool or go early) and folks are asked to leave their dogs at home. Many of the neighbors choose this day to do their yard sales so check those out.

The fire hall is located on Sixth Avenue in Westhaven.
